Flipped classroom:

- What?
- How?
- Why?
- Examples from schools

What is Flipped Classroom?

What is flipped classroom?

- learners get their initial exposure to material outside of the classroom as opposed to the traditional approach where they are introduced to new material in the classroom

Production task, spring 2021 lecturer Karina Bruun Houg, PH Absalon

Make a podcast that

- lasts 7 -10 minutes
- can be used for a flipped learning lesson in a history lesson in 6th grade (12 years old)
- is based on a real character, an event or a source in comparison to the renaissance (1400th century)

you must

- write a show note for the podcast
- use real sounds as well as sound effects
- create more than one scene and link the scenes together

Podcast produced by teacher students of history 2021.

Mobile phones, Wevideo, Spotify

Om

I denne podcast formidler et hold på læreruddannelsen enkelte begivenheder, personer eller steder, som var centrale i renæssancen. Oplægget til de studerende var en podcast henvendt til 6.-9. klasse

Why flipped classroom?

The instructor's role

- Facilitator
- Organizer
- Guide
- Introduce pupils to materials

Student prepared video for the class

Ludvig's room tour (5th grade - 11 years old)

Teacher assigns and scaffolds the task
'Present your room, make a room tour'

A student sample can be used for flipped learning.

Focus on: technical aspects, music effects, language - the recipients, the moments of speech (tempo, stress, volume, pitch)

What is a fairy tale mash-up?

The teacher's first introduction to a new period working with fairy tale mash-ups in many different ways.

grades: 4-7

app: AnimateAnything ios free

Tutorials from youtube - The very hungry caterpillar

- 1st grade work with the book by The very hungry caterpillar by Eric Carle
- They create a caterpillar using a sock, three rubberbands, pipe cleaners and cardboard
- It's animated in the app ChatterPix (android, ios - free)

Make an animation at home

Tutorial from youtube and a concrete example

Different ways of flipping the classroom ?

- Teachers initiate material through videos made by others.
All subjects all levels (ex. podcast)
- Students prepare recordings for peers, pupils etc.
All subjects, learning by teaching others (ex. history podcast)
- Student videos as model 'texts' for others
All subjects all levels (ex. Nanna's video)
- 'How to' tutorials from youtube
All subjects all levels (ex. How to use the app Chatterpix - 'The Very Hungry Caterpillar')

Reflect on advantages and disadvantages of the flipped classroom?

Would you try it out in your classroom? What would you begin with?

Would you like to try out flipped learning with your students ?
